DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 5/23/2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 14-18 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Peters (5,407,430). Peters discloses a catheter that could be used for intracranial aspiration comprising an elongate, flexible tubular body (12), having a proximal end, a distal end, and an aspiration lumen extending therethrough, a distally facing opening on the distal end of the aspiration lumen, a distal section (16) on the body in which the aspiration lumen including the distally facing opening is movable between a first, reduced inside diameter (Figure 5) for transluminal navigation and a second, enlarged inside diameter (Figure 6) for aspirating material, a support (40,42, braids) for controllably supporting the aspiration lumen against collapse when in the second diameter, and a control (30) on the proximal end of the catheter for controlling the support, wherein the support comprises a spiral element (braids) and a spring coil (40, 42), wherein the support is axially movable, and the support is activated by rotating a first end of the support relative to the second of the support, and wherein the aspiration lumen is defined within a stretchable tubular wall.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Peters (5,407,430). Peters meets the claim limitations as described in claim 14 but fails to include the tubular wall having a plurality of folds therein when the aspiration is in the first diameter. At the time the invention was made, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the sidewall of either Peters with a plurality of folds.

Art Unit: 3763

Applicant has not disclosed that having the plurality of folds serves any advantage or particular purpose or solves any stated problem. The Applicant has not disclosed that the plurality of folds works any better than the wall made of stretchable material. Either configuration allows the distal end of the catheter to expand equally well. Therefore, it would have been prima facie obvious to modify Peters with folded walls to obtain the invention as specified in claim 19 because such a modification would have been considered a mere design consideration which fails to distinguish over the prior art.
